Congregational Church Notes.

For Easter program, see another column.
The subject of the sermon next Sunday morning, will be, "The People." Church school will meet at noon. Junior Christian Endeavor in the afternoon at 3 o'clock; evening meeting at 7, in charge of the pastor.
This week Thursday, the Junior Christian Endeavor will meet at the church at 8:30 p. m., the meeting will be followed by the postponed Sunday School Social, to which all are invited.

Easter service at the Congregational church was especially inspiring and uplifting. A large congregation was present to listen to the Rev. Mr. Goodfellow's discourse on "The Revealings of Calvary," which was most helpful and held the close attention of his hearers. "The times in which Christ lived," said Mr. Goodfellow, "the village of Nazareth and the city of Jerusalem may seem far off and remote to us, but the experiences of Jesus, his problems, his sufferings his disappointments and his triumph through faith, are all as real today as then, and should act as a guide to us in our own life. To overcome by submitting to gain by giving, to be blessed by blessing, that is the Christ spirit which should live in each one of us today."

Special music for the morning service was furnished by the usual chorus choir, augmented by several extra voices, under the capable direction of Miss Belle Barrows, with Mrs. Mary Camp at the organ. Mrs. Camp rendered for a voluntary Handel's Hallelujah chorus, and the choir sang for an opening anthem "As it Began to Dawn," arranged for chorus, with tenor solo by Mr. C. W. Barrows. Mr. Barrows also sang for an offertory number the solo "Christ is Risen."

An impressive feature of the morning service was the reception into the church of sixteen new members, six by letter and ten by profession of faith. Five of the number were baptized, and the pastor spoke briefly to the new communicants, commending them to the protection and fellowship of the church.

In the evening the Sunday School, assisted by the choir, gave the Easter Service, "Rejoice, Rejoice, He Liveth," consisting of songs and recitations, all of which were enjoyably rendered. Mrs. Camp by request repeated the Hallelujah chorus, and the choir sang two anthems, repeating the morning's selection and giving for a second number Calab Sluper's "Break Forth into Joy" with baritone solo by Mr. Goodfellow and bass solo by Mr. F. W. Gould. Especial mention should be made of the violin solo, Handel's Largo, by Philip Goddard. The little people all carried out their parts charmingly, and great credit is due to the teachers of the primary department, the Misses Freda Noble and Hazel Sherman, who spent much time in painstakingly training their small charges for their part in the program.

The church was attractively decorated for the occasion with Easter Lilies and evergreen, the arrangement of the chancel rail being unusually lovely. The decorations were in charge of Miss Oella Thompson, assisted by Miss Lillian Goodfellow.

Methodist Church Notes

There was a large attendance at the Easter Sunday morning service, full choir rendered the Easter music, which was much enjoyed by the audience, especially the solo by Mrs. Jackson. Wendell Gill presided at the organ and Mr. Lawson assisted with violin. There were 264 at Sunday school and a class was received into the church at this service.

About 50 people attended the Sunrise service, which began at 5:30 o'clock. Miss Ellis presided at the piano and nearly all present took part in the praise service.

Sunday evening the audience was so large that it was necessary to bring in seats and chairs. The program as published in this paper last week was carried out in a fine manner, showing that much time was spent in rehearsing.

The Boy Scouts met in the church vestry last evening.
A supper will be served in the vestry this evening for the benefit of the choir.

"Without the Law" will be the subject of the pastor's discourse next Sunday morning.

Universalist Church Notes

A. C. Church Notes.

The pastor spoke to a large audience Sunday morning on the "Resurrection." Text taken from Luke 24: 38-39.

An interesting Easter program was given in the Sunday School, followed by a talk by Mrs. Grace Freer. The Loyal Workers service at 6:00 o'clock was led by the pastor. Subject: "Christian Stewardship."

An Easter Cantata was given in the evening under the auspices of the W. H. & F. M. society and was much enjoyed.

The teacher training class will meet Tuesday evening at the home of the teacher.

Prayer meeting and study Wednesday evening at 7:30 o'clock.
Members of the "Hustlers" class enjoyed sugar on snow at the home of their teacher, Mrs. W. S. Miller last Saturday.

Services next Sunday at the usual hour.

Big Task.

One of the big causes of delay in the movement of freight is the heating of the journal boxes of car axles, commonly known as "hot boxes." When one journal box in a train gets seriously hot it is necessary to stop the whole movement of traffic until the condition can be remedied. This makes very timely a series of tests now being carried on at Purdue university, to determine accurately the benefit to be derived by using ventilated lids instead of the solid lids now almost universally used on the axle journals. The tests consist of eight-hour runs with heavy loads at high speed, during which accurate records are kept of the temperature attained in each class of apparatus.

Perfume Hunters.

There seems to be no good reason why in this country the gathering of sweet-smelling herbs and flowers for the perfume trade might not be found profitable. It has recently become a considerable industry in rural parts of England, a great many women and children having taken it up.

In April the picking of cowslips begins, these flowers being in demand as a cure for sleeplessness, and also for "potpourri" and sachets. Broom and elder flowers follow. Mullein and mallows, bergamot, peony petals, rose petals and red poppy petals bring good prices; likewise raspberry leaves, sage, mint, balm and thyme.—Philadelphia Ledger.

Pictures of Christ.

Pictures of Christ represent the artists' imaginative conceptions, based more or less on Biblical and other descriptions of His personal appearance. The works of Leonardo de Vinci and Raphael, which are the earliest accepted ones and from which nearly all others have been imitated to some extent, are said to be reproductions of the traditional likeness fashioned after the Greek model of the hero-god Apollo, of the Egyptian Serapis.

The big ham that was on exhibition in the store window of Eaton & Woodard several days, and on which everybody had a free guess, was an interesting feature. Ten members of Class No. 5 of the Congregational Sunday School, with their teacher, R. L. Barrows, enjoyed a sugar party at the sugar orchard of Leo Gould on the Mountain Road, on Saturday afternoon, the invitation coming from the former class teacher, Mrs. Leo Gould. The party made the journey on foot, but were brought back by team, stopping on the way home to inspect the model dairy of George Towne. Needless to say, Mr. Gould's stock on hand of sugar was decidedly smaller after the healthy young appetites had been satisfied.

To Make Friend of Toad.

The toad is not looked upon with any great amount of favor by the average person, and is generally thought of as being "ugly," while the old boyhood superstition that holds the lowly hopper as responsible for warts still lingers in many adult minds. In reality the toad is a peaceful, friendly little creature that can be trained in a very few minutes to be "pals" and after a week or so can be made as affectionate as a dog. They are cleaner than any furred animal and are exceedingly interesting as pets.

What is a Weed?

According to Webster's International dictionary there are two definitions of a weed: 1. Wild-growth in the nature of rank grass, undergrowth, or the like. 2. Any plant growing in cultivated ground to the injury of the crop or desired vegetation, or to the disfigurement of the place; an unsightly, useless, or injurious plant. The following note is added: A weed is a plant that is not wanted. There are, therefore, no species of weeds, for a plant that is a weed in one place may not be in another.

Real Meaning of Old Saying.

The Englishman's misuse of the aspirate has twisted an old saying in a peculiar fashion. Our forefathers were wont to declare that a person was "as mad as an utter." This has now become "batter" and most people imagine it has something to do with a manufacturer of hats. As a matter of fact the original "utter" meant "adder."

HELPED PAY AMERICA'S DEBT

How Mrs. Monroe Was Instrumental in Saving the Life of Madame Lafayette.

An interesting sidelight on history lies in the story of how the wife of James Monroe, fifth President, saved the life of Madame Lafayette at the time Monroe was American ambassador to France. Lafayette himself was in prison in Germany, and kept in a foul dungeon. Mme. Lafayette had been seized by the Revolutionists, and was confined in the prison of La Force, and a date had been set for her execution. The Monroes were very much alive to the great debt America owed the young aristocrat, and Mrs. Monroe determined to do what she could.

She ordered the state coach of the embassy, with its flaring coat of arms, to deliver her to the doors of the prison of La Force, and once there, calmly requested an interview with the unfortunate prisoner. An interview with a person sentenced to the knife was unheard of, but the dawning power of the United States was such that the officials dared not refuse the request of the ambassador's wife. A few words were exchanged between the women, and Mrs. Monroe drove away. The next morning she was liberated, the French Revolutionists fearing to execute her, and desiring thus to secure the friendly attention of the new nation. It was a daring thing to do, for the results might have been disastrous and all sorts of international complications might have arisen.

Oysters Have Many Enemies.

Between the planting and the harvest, an interval of from two to five years, the oyster culturist assumes many hazards. On the New England coast, after all his material is down, the field "set" may not appear, possibly because at the critical time some weather disturbance may have killed the baby oysters while they were yet swimming near the surface. In the Gulf of Mexico the "set" may be so heavy that there is scant room for the oysters to grow, and many die, while those that are left are half starved and misshapen from crowding. Even when the little oysters or "spat" have attached themselves in favorable numbers, their perils have just begun. They are never safe from other enemies until they fall into the hands of their arch foes.

Windfall.

A windfall is an unexpected legacy or money dropped as it were from the sky. The saying originated when the English nobility were forbidden by the tenure of their estates to fell the timber, all the trees being reserved for the use of the royal navy. Such trees as were blown down, however, were excepted, hence a good wind often proved a veritable Godsend.

Hunting Gazelles From Autos.

The speed of the gazelle has always made it exceedingly difficult to hunt them, but now it is a common thing to see gazelle hunters in automobiles darting across the desert of Morocco in chase of these speedy animals. The results of the hunt are invariably greater than when horses are used, because the animals become tired out before overtaking the gazelles.

Should Cultivate That, Too.

So many singers want to run before they can walk, says a critic. With some singers whom we have heard the ability to dodge as well as run would be an advantage.—London Punch.

Proper Reading for Children.

It is in the home that the growing mind receives its most lasting impressions. Surround the child with good reading and you surround him with friends. An attractive title and good illustrations are no guaranty that the book contains good reading. If you have not time to read books yourself consult your librarian and let your choice be not only what will stimulate the imagination but above all something to warm the heart and impress the great truths of life.—Youth's Companion.

Wild Geese in the British Isles.

The tribe of wild geese of Europe are birds of mystery. Their nesting grounds, and thus their true homes, are in the far north, in the wilds of Spitzbergen, and on the inaccessible island of Kolguev. It is only as visitors that they come to the British islands, for in the regions that approach the pole winter comes early, and thus all bird life is driven southward, flying at incredible speed on the arms of the north wind as they make for their winter quarters in more hospitable lands.
